U.S., Jamaican Officials Investigate Cutters Plight

The recent incident at the Kennedy Camp of the Sugar Cane Growers Cooperative of Florida has prompted investigation by the U. S. Labor Dept. and the Jamaican government. Representatives of the both of these agencies toured the Kennedy Camp and another camp of the U. S. Sugar Co. in South Bay recently.

The purpose of the visit was to find the cause of last week's incident at the Kennedy Camp. The decision of 140 cane cutters to voluntarily return home after they had originally been charged with inciting to riot and unlawful assembly prompted the representatives of Jamaica and Labor Dept., investigators to check the situation first hand.

Wages appeared to be an issue but it was explained there is no standard pay for harvesting a row of cane, and the average wage of those men contacted at the Kennedy Camp was about $1.72 per hour. Wages are set up under the sugar act administered by the Department of Agriculture with the minimum being $1.45 per hour.

Certification of the workers must come from Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz, who has been opposed at various times to the importation of workers. The Labor Dept. investigators will report their findings to Wirtz, and the Jamaican representatives will report back to their government.

Rep. Gurney To Speak

Edward J. Gurney of Winter Park, a U. S. Congressman from Florida's Fifth District, will be guest speaker on Friday, Jan. 19, at a luncheon of the Palm Beach Republican Club at the Everglades Club, Colonel R. Bruce Jones is club president.

Elected to the 88th Congress in 1962, after serving on the Winter Park City Commission from 1952 through 1958 and as mayor for two years, Gurney was re-elected in 1964 and again in 1966, the latter year without opposition. His Democrat opponent withdrew from the race in September.

The congressman has served on the Science and Astronautics Committee and Education and Labor Committee in the House.

Born in Portland, Maine, on Jan. 12, 1914, he attended public schools there and earned higher education degrees at Colby College, Waterville, Maine; Harvard Law School and Duke Law School.

Prior to World War II, Gurney joined the 101st Cavalry Regiment of the New York National Guard as a private. During the war he served as a rank commander overseas with the Eighth Armored Division. He was wounded in action in Germany in March, 1945. The congressman earned the Silver Star and Purple Heart. He was discharged as a lieutenant colonel.

The newly formed Glades Republican Club will be having a fund raising dinner with Rep. Gurney as guest speaker Friday, Jan. 19, at the Belle Glade Holiday Inn at 7:30 P.M. The donation will be $10.00 per person.

EDWARD J. GURNEY

Buildings like the above serve no useful purpose, they only offer to Glades critics something to talk or write about. We wish that our county and city governments would take a more aggressive attitude to initiate and follow up on condemnation proceedings. The lacking of a sign on a property does not eliminate the problem, after a reasonable time legal action should be taken to have the buildings removed.

Halbrook-Bell Vows Exchanged In Baytown, Texas

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Oliver Nason Halbrook are making their home at 918 East Washington St., Athens, Alabama, following a wedding trip to Mississippi. The couple was united in marriage Tuesday, Dec. 26 at Pruet and Lohit Street Church of Christ, Baytown, Texas.

Leonard Tyler of Huntsville, Ala., performed the nuptial vows before an altar decorated with a rainbow candelabra and an arrangement of white mums and greenery.

The bride is the former Miss Donna Kaye Bell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Bell, 1903 Richardson St., Baytown, Texas. She is a graduate of Robert E. Lee High School and Florida College in Temple Terrace, Fla.

SENSING THE NEWS

By Thurman Sensing

EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT

Southern States Industrial Council

While no one can tell what surprises are in store for the American people in 1968 there are certain key issues that surely will engage the attention of the public.

Perhaps the No. 1 domestic issue is that of law and order. The year 1967 was a disaster year in terms of lawlessness. Mob rule in New Orleans, Detroit and other cities destroyed millions of dollars worth of property and turned fine communities into an inferno.

The American people, for all their extreme tolerance, surely will not tolerate another long, hot summer of civil insurrection fanned by professional agitators and their apologists. A tough police crackdown, such as has been ordered in Miami, Florida, is likely to be the national pattern. The major confrontation will be between the lawless and the forces of law and order may come in Chicago, where civil disobedience groups threaten to engulf the city when the Democrats hold their presidential nominating convention.

The international front, the war in Vietnam will continue to be the subject of top concern. The "doves" are hard at work, trying to force an American withdrawal so that Ho Chi Minh can have an easy peace. The public has in watch that nervous men in Washington don't yield to the pressure from the demonstrators who represent only a tiny element in American life. The majority of citizens are likely to be angry if the McNamara "no win" policies aren't scrapped when Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara leaves office this year.

The Vietnam war is taking on a new dimension, with the communists making greatly increased use of privileged sanctuaries in Cambodia and Laos. Communist ships are unloading vast quantities of supplies on the Cambodian coast. But Mr. McNamara denies permission to the U. S. service chief to order bombing of the Cambodian supply points. Equally outrageous is the fact that U. S. units commanders are not permitted to follow communist troops when they enter sanctuaries in Cambodia for refuge.

Yet another major issue in 1968 will be the fate of the dollar. The European bankers who in the last year looked so suspiciously on the British pound have begun to ask tough questions about the U. S. dollar. The European bankers apparently believe that the Johnson administration has a credibility gap when it comes to announced measures to protect the dollar. The business world is aware of America's great balance of payments deficit and is alarmed — it intends to protect the dollar as the administration is going to have to reverse its policies and change its attitudes, and slash foreign aid. U. S. business also needs a real assist in selling abroad.

The Vital Issues

Other governments give their manufacturers a tremendous assist in marketing goods overseas. The U. S. government is perhaps the only government in the world that seems more interested in developing the economies of foreign states than it is in aiding its own business enterprises. Nineteen sixty-eight should be the year in which the U. S. government starts thinking about the needs and opportunities of U. S. industry facing foreign competition.

The United States is grossly over-dependent on foreign imports in many lines ranging from steel products to textiles. It is essential, therefore, that Congress take some action this year to deal with the imports that destroy jobs and take away profits.

Still another vital issue for 1968 is the attitude of the unions toward wage increases. Everyone wants a higher wage or salary, but in the modern business world wage increases have to come about through improvements in labor productivity. What is worst about Big Unionism is its attitude toward plant modernization. Many, many unions bitterly resist the introduction of new, labor-saving machinery. Yet this machinery is the real hope of the American economy faced with competition from foreign sources. Unions are dead wrong to try to force industry to work with antiquated equipment or to continue work practices which are rooted in the technologies of yesterday.

By accepting new machinery, working men will be broadening the base of their company's and their own prosperity. Moreover, it is absolutely destructive for a union to accept new machinery and then demand that comparatively unskilled employees be paid at the same rate as highly skilled workers on other types of machines.

These, then, are some of the vital issues of 1968. On their successful resolution depends the security, happiness and economic well-being of the American people.

LOCAL BUSINESS

"A ready-to-buy frame of mind" is a consumer characteristic created uniquely by newspaper advertising, according to the Media Director of a major advertising agency.

The element in American life, the majority of citizens are likely to be angry if the McNamara "no win" policies aren't scrapped when Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara leaves office this year.

The Vietnam war is taking on a new dimension, with the communists making greatly increased use of privileged sanctuaries in Cambodia and Laos. Colonel Kirkman urges those in private business in these twenty-eight counties who are interested in becoming licensed as official inspection stations to contact Captain C. Reynolds, Chief, Motor Vehicle Inspection Section, Tallahassee.

Kirkman went on to say that the first inspection will begin June 1, 1968, and it will be imperative that those interested apply for applications immediately, so that they may properly train and inspect.

The Department of Public Safety will supervise all vehicle inspection stations in Florida.

The counties where private individuals may apply are: Bay, Calhoun, Citrus, Clay, Desoto, Dixie, Escambia, Franklin, Gadsden, Gilchrist, Glades, Gulf, Hamilton, Hendry, Holmes, Indian River, Jefferson, Liberty, Madison, Monroe, Nassau, Okaloosa, Santa Rosa, Suwannee, Taylor, Wakulla, Walton, Washington.

tion on what we call 'best food day.'"

The advertising media specialist pointed out that other merchants and dealers could use the newspaper with the same effectiveness secured by grocers.

"Put it in terms of the multiple business and the edge it would offer if you were fairly assured that you could use a medium which you knew would be referred to just prior to a day of showroom visits," he suggested.

The use of newspaper advertising in almost all types of retailing gives the advantage of "knowing that our target is in a ready-to-buy frame of mind. This is an ideal set of circumstances for completing a sale. It could be added that thorough coverage of the local market of newspaper also creates an ideal shopping situation for the consumer as well as the seller.

The consumer who has a deal in newspaper knows what he is doing. He responds to the advertising only if he is in the mood to buy. He does not waste his time moving from store to store, or from town to town.

No Changes in Federal Income Tax

Jacksonville, Florida — Because there have been no changes in the federal income tax and social security withholding rates for 1968, employers should continue to use their present copy of Circular E, "Employer's Tax Guide."

A. J. O'Donnell, Jr., district director of Internal Revenue for Florida, advised today. Mr. O'Donnell stressed that employers should not be expected a new issuance of Circular E, also referred to as Publication No. 15, but should use their present edition for withholding information and tables.

Employers can make certain they have the latest edition of the "Employer's Tax Guide" by checking that the front cover bears the notation, Publication No. 15 (Rev. Jan. 1967). While there has been no increase in the social security tax rate for 1968, Mr. O'Donnell

"Name your own odds?"

By Russell Kay
Nobody knows how many laws we have in the fifty states, dealing with just about every subject under the sun, but there are thousands of them, never repealed and still on the books.

A recent issue of Floyd Times carried an article by Dick Hyman entitled "It's Still The Law" revealing numerous outmoded laws which have never been repealed. Some of the laws that apparently seemed sensible and practical when passed but which today are mirth provoking and if any attempt were made to enforce them would create chaos.

Most of them were enacted in the early days of the automobile and were intended to protect and safeguard the public from the dangerous motor vehicles that were appearing on our highways at the turn of the century. Vehicles that traveled at breakneck speeds of 15 to 20 miles an hour endangered pedestrians and livestock.

It appears that just about every community or state had its own ideas about necessary legislation to regulate automotive transportation. For example, a law student in Miami discovered that it is illegal to proceed down Flagler Street at night in a motor vehicle unless preceded by a lighted lantern of least eight feet in front of the vehicle. The motorist apparently had a choice of either hiring someone to walk ahead with a lighted lantern or attach a 10 foot pole to his car with a lighted lantern attached.

In Lakeland it is against the law for a motor vehicle to be left standing on the highway unless it is substantially fastened.

In Eureka, Kans., an old law stipulates that before anyone can enter the city limits in an automobile, he must telephone the sheriff and warn him so that people's horses may be properly restrained.

In Oxnard, Cal., the driver would have to wait for a police escort before entering the city and while driving through the city a bell horn or siren would have to be continually sounded.

A Tennessee law required every motorist planning a drive to take an advertisement in local newspapers at least one week in advance giving the route he proposed to travel.

The good Parson announced he aimed to preach a sermon pithy soon on college football. He said he had kept a record this past football season and they wasn't a riot on a single campus where they were winning big in football. He claimed if they couldn't get in the papers big in football they were trying to offset it by getting big in rioting, flower power and such stuff. He was of the opinion some of these colleges that were having riots had ought to pay more attention to football and less attention to education.

You'll have to admit, Mister Editor, this was pithy sharp thinking.

He went on to say a heap of his sermons made some enemies for him and he expected his sermon on football wouldn't please the Deacons but preaching was in his blood. He claimed he couldn't make more money in the brick mason profession but he wasn't going to desert the Lord in time of need.

And he told the fellows the need was getting greater and greater. But, he added, we was getting a world of help from the taxpayers in our house of need. For instance, he said he had seen a report where North Carolina had got out a book called "Guide To Services" and the table of contents took up five pages and it listed Government aid in everything from "pre-natal service" to "life insurance death benefits." He reported he hadn't checked on it but he figured over state in the Union was now getting Federal funds to spend everybody equal from womb to tomb.

Clem Webster of the Great Society butted in to say the Government was doing a heap of things to help the country. For instance, he said the city of Philadelphia had made a deal under a 2,000 tons of garbage ever day into abandoned strip mines to turn the land back useful and our Government had took a cue from this and aimed to do the same thing to get rid of the rats.

Personal, Mister Editor, I think the good Parson and Clem was both a little right and a little wrong. The Lord has a way of making things equal. For instance, some people in this country was advocating the bird bill to keep down population and in Romania population has fed off to where they was putting a high tax on bachelors and spinsters.

Yours truly,
Uncle Dan

He was of the opinion some of these colleges that were having riots had ought to pay more attention to football and less attention to education.

You'll have to admit, Mister Editor, this was pithy sharp thinking.

He went on to say a heap of his sermons made some enemies for him and he expected his sermon on football wouldn't please the Deacons but preaching was in his blood. He claimed he couldn't make more money in the brick mason profession but he wasn't going to desert the Lord in time of need.

And he told the fellows the need was getting greater and greater. But, he added, we was getting a world of help from the taxpayers in our house of need. For instance, he said he had seen a report where North Carolina had got out a book called "Guide To Services" and the table of contents took up five pages and it listed Government aid in everything from "pre-natal service" to "life insurance death benefits." He reported he hadn't checked on it but he figured over state in the Union was now getting Federal funds to spend everybody equal from womb to tomb.

Clem Webster of the Great Society butted in to say the Government was doing a heap of things to help the country. For instance, he said the city of Philadelphia had made a deal under a 2,000 tons of garbage ever day into abandoned strip mines to turn the land back useful and our Government had took a cue from this and aimed to do the same thing to get rid of the rats.

Personal, Mister Editor, I think the good Parson and Clem was both a little right and a little wrong. The Lord has a way of making things equal. For instance, some people in this country was advocating the bird bill to keep down population and in Romania population has fed off to where they was putting a high tax on bachelors and spinsters.

Yours truly,
Uncle Dan

Uncle Dan from Doobie Says:

light unless preceded by a lighted lantern of least eight feet in front of the vehicle. The motorist apparently had a choice of either hiring someone to walk ahead with a lighted lantern or attach a 10 foot pole to his car with a lighted lantern attached.

In Lakeland it is against the law for a motor vehicle to be left standing on the highway unless it is substantially fastened.

In Eureka, Kans., an old law stipulates that before anyone can enter the city limits in an automobile, he must telephone the sheriff and warn him so that people's horses may be properly restrained.

In Oxnard, Cal., the driver would have to wait for a police escort before entering the city and while driving through the city a bell horn or siren would have to be continually sounded.

A Tennessee law required every motorist planning a drive to take an advertisement in local newspapers at least one week in advance giving the route he proposed to travel.

The good Parson announced he aimed to preach a sermon pithy soon on college football. He said he had kept a record this past football season and they wasn't a riot on a single campus where they were winning big in football. He claimed if they couldn't get in the papers big in football they were trying to offset it by getting big in rioting, flower power and such stuff. He was of the opinion some of these colleges that were having riots had ought to pay more attention to football and less attention to education.

You only have one...

Isn't it strange how we automatically assume that we're going to be here tomorrow. Perhaps if we considered more that there is a slight chance that we might be called by higher authority, we might pay more attention to our actions.

Of course I don't advocate that we all stand around shaking in our boots wondering when we'll be called, but that we show more consideration for others. We are all guilty of hurting someone's feelings and saying to ourselves "I'll apologize tomorrow." What if there is no tomorrow. What of those people we take for granted, the ones that are always there when we need them, the ones that we never thank or show appreciation to, what happens to them when we go.

Life is for living and living is not a self made process, it is a gift, a gift that we don't always appreciate. Every year of our lives that passes makes the remainder that much more valuable and every year we should strive to live a fuller more thoughtful life. We have many gifts that we seldom pay any attention to, the fact that you can read this newspaper is in itself a great gift. The fact that I can hear the praise or the criticism for what I write is another great gift.

Being aware of what you have instead of what you wish you had is being aware of yourself, and we all have more than we give ourselves credit for. You are what you are and the only one that can change anything about you is yourself. Think more of what you have and less about what you don't have and you'll live a happier life.

The Credibility Gap

The "credibility gap" is a phrase we hear constantly today. What does it mean and how does it happen?

It means that there is a lack of confidence in the honesty of our leaders. A recent example of this is the matter of the President's request for a 10 percent tax increase. He announced that unless the increase was voted there would be a deficit of $37 billion. In previous testimony before the House Ways and Means Committee the deficit would probably be $22 billion. Today the Budget Director admitted under questioning of the Ways and Means Committee that the deficit would probably be $22 billion. Naturally people wonder who to believe and why the difference.

Is this deliberate lying? Has the moral state of our country gone so low that our leaders do not even attempt to be honest? One answer is that figures can always be interpreted in varying ways. Another is that conditions change so fast in our society, particularly where the tax is concerned, that what is true today may not be true tomorrow. Another reason is that politicians to get what they wanted. In this day of instant communication and a better educated people they just can't get away with it as easy as they once could.

It is especially unfortunate that credibility gaps exist today in this time of dissent and disorder. A leadership approach is badly needed. The future of democracy could depend upon it.

Reincarnation Of Students

If students could come back into the world again in another shape or form, some of BGHS students would like to be the following:

Pam Whitlock — a millionaire.

Linda Richey — a pillow.

Buddy Wilder — Peter Rabbit.

Jill Brown — an alligator so my father can take care of me.

Joanne Harris — Paul Newman's wife.

Barbara Dextre — a penguin.

My Helen Fontaine "speeches."

Jorge Rodriguez with a southern accent.

Sunny Crawford with Black hair.

Julio Perez a 98 pound weakling.

Kathryn Smith (Big Red) with long blonde hair.

Mrs. Rogers in mesh tights and a mini skirt.

Mr. Morris with long shaggy hair.

More Senior privileges.

The American Flag

What the American Flag means to me is rather hard to explain, but let me try to tell you just some of the meanings it holds for me.

First of all as I look at the 50 stars which represent the fifty states, I think of the thousands of people each star represents. Every person in this great nation of ours is a part of our flag. Secondly, I think about the blue background which represents honesty and this is so important in building a strong nation. Next I see the red and white stripes. The red stands for courage, and what courage those men and women must have had to fight against our nation's enemy. Because there were people who wanted a peaceful and God fearing country they fought and died for it. The white is for purity, the birth of a country, our country.

People think of our flag as a thing of the past which represents our independence from England. But weren't we still protecting the flag when we fought in World War I and II? And what about Viet Nam, aren't we fighting to protect our country right now? So you see, when you burn your draft cards, picket against the war, and even burn our flag you are destroying yourself. Everyone in this nation is a part of The American Flag.

The next time you see the flag, take time to look at it and decide just what it means to you.

Club News

Beta Club President Dick Hooker announces that their sale of school stationery and night shirts was very successful. There are a few boxes of stationery remaining for sale and these may be purchased for $1.25 each. The red night shirts were sold out by the second day but anyone interested in ordering one may do so by contacting Dick Hooker or Janet Wolf. The shirts are $3.50 and a dollar deposit is required when placing an order.

Members of Paramedics club made individual gifts to be taken to children in the local hospital. President Jill Brown said the girls made green felt stockings and filled them with Christmas candy for the boys and girls.

New Year Resolutions

College Advice

Most Seniors in high school are concerned about their futures, and those who are going to college, especially so. These students want advice from a supposedly knowing person, on going away to school.

If you are a Senior and want this type of advice, the best person to ask is your high school guidance counselor. This person is trained to help you decide what you want to do about your future. He should know your capabilities and know what type college situation you would best fit.

In addition to your counselor you should take a few, basic, common — sense steps:

1. Get advice from several counselors, not just one.
2. Get information from persons who are closely associated with higher education.
3. Don't regard decisions made at the beginning of college as final. Every year more and more students transfer to different colleges. Higher education is changing so rapidly that everybody not directly involved in it is likely to get behind the times.

Before deciding on a college look very thoroughly at all aspects and then make plans for your future.

Doors To Success

By Margaret Thompson

There are many roads to success, but the ingredients are the same in all fields of endeavor. . . . Don't be afraid to start over. . . . Failure is no disgrace. . . . Raise your sights. . . . Records like the four minute mile and 60 home runs in a baseball season were made to be broken. . . . Seize your opportunities.

"If one door shuts, another opens," says an old Irish proverb. Don't envy the other fellow. Your time and energy can be better spent concentrating on your own goals. . . . Go to work!

Carlisle, the famous English writer, has said that success is the capacity for taking infinite pains.

Don't wait too long. The past is gone forever. Meet luck halfway.

A Spanish proverb says that God tests you with a little, to see what you can do with a lot.

What is a Friend

A friend is a person who will stand by you and will always be there when you need him most.

A friend is someone whom you can trust with all your secrets.

A friend is someone who helps you patch things up with your boyfriend, when you have a fight.

A friend is that person who can talk to you on the telephone for two hours without getting bored.

A friend is someone who does not get mad when you refuse to let them copy your homework.

A friend is the person you like to gossip with most.

A friend is someone who does not brag about the things he has, and you do not.

A friend is someone who does not get mad when you cut her hair and ruin it.

A friend is someone who will not talk about you behind your back.

A friend is someone who gives you a surprise party on your birthday.

A friend is someone who will take up for you when others are cutting you down.

A friend is someone who makes you laugh when you feel down in the dumps.

A friend is someone who will still be your friend even if everyone else is not.

Stop and Think

People take things for granted — they don't realize it, but they do.

Have you stopped to look at the sky lately, to watch the clouds? Did you notice the color — bright blue, or was it a colorful sunset?

Most people love flowers and trees, but they don't take time out to look at them, and have any of the beauties we have on the earth today.

So let's stop taking God's gifts for granted. It's really beautiful.

What would it do? What about the rich black soil and the green grass we walk on every day?

When it rains, most people get upset, they say it "spoils" what they had planned for the day. But do you know what would happen if it didn't rain? Without the Sun, we would freeze to death. We would not have any of the beauties we have on the earth today.

So let's stop taking God's gifts for granted. It's really beautiful.

THE FARM FRONT

Just as on the "outside," a man behind prison bars has to make many personal decisions which will affect his life and well being for the moment and for life to come.

He can be an incorrigible rebel, just as perhaps he was before he earned his way into prison.

Or he can review his past mistakes and look for constructive means of making a new life for himself.

Recently there was a great hue and cry over "brutality" in our State Prison at Raiford. The U. S. Supreme Court accepted the assertions of an inmate who claimed life was made miserable for him in a "windowless sweatbox."

(A tour of the facilities by legislators and press later established that his description of the cell was a distortion of fact.)

He has long since built a reputation for trouble in and out of prison.

But for every inmate of this type at Raiford there are hundreds who are quietly going about the task of reshaping their lives.

In the wake of the controversy, I think it is essential to look briefly at what constructively is being done for and by the great majority of inmates at Raiford and the more than 30 other correctional institutions in Florida.

Remember, first, that the operating philosophy behind the Florida penal system is to "correct" or rehabilitate.

One of the principal means in a rehabilitation effort is to put idle hands to work, make them productive, teach them new skills.

This is done day-in, day-out at Raiford and at the other institutions. There are cabinet shops, the well-known lace tag plant, and many other assembly-line operations.

And, of particularly keen interest to me as a man of agriculture, there are prison farming operations that are designed to make the prison community more nearly self-sustaining as well as to give many inmates a trade they can go to (or return to) on the outside.

The farming operation is no small item.

Taking all the institutions as a whole, the system produces in a year some 2,500 head of beef cattle and 3,000 pigs, a third of a million pounds of poultry and a third of a million dozen eggs, nearly a million pounds of field crops, a quarter of a million board feet of lumber and about 3,500 cords of pulpwood, more than a half million gallons of milk, and nearly 3 million pounds of vegetables.

Kill this pellitory weed in sugar cane.
Use Atrazine. Here's how:

When you see pellitory weed starting to grow, apply Atrazine 80W herbicide, plus a little surfactant. You'll clean out infestations of this winter annual fast and effectively... without hurting cane.

Atrazine is safe to sugar cane. It will not injure your crop when you apply it as directed on the label. And since it's non-volatile, there's no danger of drift to adjacent, sensitive crops.

Even though Atrazine has proved to control pellitory at any stage of growth, early treatment assures best results. With pellitory under control early, you grow more sugar cane per acre.

That's because Atrazine prevents pellitory from interfering with sugar cane tillering. Also, Atrazine helps make soil moisture and nutrients available for your cane, and not for pellitory weed.

So plan now to grow the maximum tonnage of sugar cane from each acre you plant this season. Just use Atrazine to control pellitory weed this winter.

Letter To The Student Body

TO: THE STUDENT BODY
FROM: CURTIS LEE PIERCE, PRESIDENT OF STUDENT COUNCIL
RE: COLD WATER FOUNTAIN PROJECT
(Grade Level Competitive Fund Drive)

As president of your student council I am again appealing to you to be one of the council's biggest-and in our opinion-most worthwhile project that we have ever attempted.

In the council's effort to make life pleasant for the students and other members of the Lake Shore Family, the council desires to purchase additional cold water fountains to be placed on our campus. We feel that you realize the great need for such a project and the number of problems that could be solved by additional water fountains.

This is a project that must be of the utmost concern to each of us as students at Lake Shore High School. The student council cannot succeed in this project without your help and support. I again remind you of the fact that you determine to a great extent the success of our council. If we are to be the type of student council of which you can be proud; then you must give us your support.

Prior to accepting this project, we consulted the other leaders of our campus. These leaders were home room presidents, clubs and organization presidents and others. They agreed with us that this was a worthwhile and useful project.

They as your leaders—having been directed by you—pledged your support. As president I felt perfectly justified in accepting the pledge in your behalf, for I am of the opinion that you would not have elected someone to represent you whose judgment you did not trust.

After meeting with your leaders, the council brought the project to you in a general assembly. In this assembly you personally pledged your support. It was agreed that each grade level would make a contribution of $100.00 toward the purchase of additional cold water fountains. To date our financial record shows that only one grade has made a start toward this pledge.

So that we all might begin the New Year in the best of spirits, I am asking that each grade level make their contribution of at least a part of it on or before Monday, Jan. 15, to our sponsor, Mr. J. Allen, Jr., in Room 204.

Thank you for your cooperation in this project.

Proudly, Lake Shore Jr.-Sr. High would like to extend its highest amount of congratulations to Catherine Lowe, Catherine achieved the highest score on the Florida Seniors Test at our school (302). For her, this was a thrilling moment. She plans to attend the University of Florida. I, a chemist, Miss Lowe is also an honor student. Her hobbies are reading, cooking, and watching television.

Personally, I would like to commend Miss Lowe for such elegant achievement.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Buster R. Lowe. She resides at 620 S. W. 11th Street, Belle Glade.

SNOOPY

Over the Christmas holidays expensive gifts were given and received by friends.

First case deals with (should or shouldn't) I? Those are the thoughts that ran across C.L.P. mind. Only V.R. and the Benrus Company knows for sure what the verdict was.

Say E.C. I see that your girl friends S.V., R.B. and V.W. brought you Identification bracelets. Say man, when you kick it sure won't be hard to identify you.

And let's not forget about J.L. and J.J., they also received an identification bracelet. I see that gifts were much cheaper this year.

Say S.B., I see that J.A. brought you a sweater for Christmas and in return you bought him a cuff link set. How about that?

Ge, everyone goes to the drive-in to be with the A.B.J. and G.D.B. take the entire family on their dates. Was it fun? Hal! Hal! What was the sophomore S. H. say about that?

J.L.P. I heard that you were trying to move in on your boy B.R.D., it's going to be a mess I tell you.

In 1967 it was the mini fever and 1968 has started a new fever, "The Ring Fever" and I don't mean class ring fever either.

J.E.B., I heard that P.S. is putting a little something on your ring finger. Say what's it going to be? Is he going to give you J.G.T?

Powder Puff Football Game

On Friday night January 5, 1968, the Junior girls played the Senior girls on the school's Football field.

The game got underway with the Senior's kicking off to the Juniors, and a fine return by Genette Sears.

During the fourth quarter Christine Moore gained good yardage before being stopped.

The outstanding backs: Genette Sears and Sharon Butts, for the Juniors, and Christine Moore and Elnora Putnam for the Seniors.

The Junior girls were coached by Robert Gram and James Anderson. The Senior girls were coached by James Ford and Curtis Pierce.

Allen University Choir

Baby Bobcats Win and Lose

On Thursday afternoon, January 4, 1968, the Baby Bobcats played host to the Lincoln Junior High Mustangs of Riviera Beach, Florida, in the Lake Shore Gym.

The first game got off to a good start with the Baby Bobcats ("B" team) leading the Mustangs throughout the game.

The Baby Bobcats worked out the pros: They ended the game with a score of 38-30.

After a superb job had been done by the "B" team of the Baby Bobcats, the Junior High "A" team of the Baby Bobcats suffered a loss, but still did an outstanding job of dribbling, rebounding, and shooting.

The Mustangs won 37-40.

The Junior Bobcats are coached by Mr. A. Russell, of the Science Department at Lake Shore Jr.-Sr. High.

Sports Editors: Alton Jones & Curtis Pierce
